Praise for writing workshops with Christie Tate:

"Christie Tate is not only a NYT best-selling writer whose prose makes you laugh and cry at the same time, she's also an incredible teacher. Over the course of a four-day workshop, she pushed me to try new paths into showing vs. telling, shared exercises to help us when we got stuck and most of all, taught us to believe in our own voices and the craft of writing." – Sarah G.

"Christie teaches a workshop with the same honesty and compassion she uses when writing memoirs. Her genuine, kind nature set a tone of love and respect, and that tone, mingled among an amazing group of humans, was pure magic." – Heather S.

"Christie's thoughtful, engaged, and authentic presence plus her encouraging and incisive feedback fostered a sense of community that was focused, generous, and fun." – Tanya F.
